THE SELF EXILED.

"Now open the gate and let her in,
And fling it wide,
For she hath been cleansed from stain of sin,"
St. Peter cried.
And the angels all were silent.

"Though I am cleansed from stain of sin,"
She answered low,
"I came not hither to enter in,
Nor may I go."
And the angels all were silent.

* * * * * * *

"But I may not enter there," she said;
"For I must go
Across the gulf where the guilty dead
Lie in their woe."
And the angels all were silent.

"If I enter heaven, I may not speak
My soul's desire
For them that are lying distraught and weak
In flaming fire."
And the angels all were silent.

"Should I be nearer Christ," she said,
"By pitying less
The sinful living or woeful dead
In their helplessness?"
And the angels all were silent.

"Should I be liker Christ were I
To love no more
The loved, who in their anguish lie
Outside the door?"
And the angels all were silent.

* * * * * * *

"Should I be liker, nearer him,
Forgetting this—
Singing all day with the seraphim
In selfish bliss?"
And the angels all were silent.

LONDON SQUARES.

Some of the Quaint Breathing Spots In the English Metropolis.

Some of these are quaint and charming enough, being mostly laid out in the Dutch fashion. Golden square, near Regent street; Red Lion and Queen squares, in Bloomsbury, are capital specimens. The first, though so close to Regent street, might be a dozen miles away. There is a welcome unkemptness; the grass is rank and wild; there are old trees ranged round its border in a symmetrical way. The houses round are picturesque, because each is distinct. It is given over to commission agents, merchants and trade generally, yet within but a few years it was a place of genteel residence, like a usual square, and we find the late Cardinal Wiseman living in a substantial mansion here. Dickens, it will be remembered, placed Ralph Nickleby's house here, which is described on the occasion of the party to Sir Frederick and Sir Mulberry as having almost palatial apartments and the richest furniture. As we wander round, we are struck with the melancholy tone of the inclosure, yet everything seems brisk enough, but it belongs to the old world.

The square itself is very attractive and original, with a sort of Dutch or foreign air. We note the fine trees which shelter it all round in symmetrical lines and the Roman warrior sort of statue in the center, arrayed in full armor and representing George II. The grass and walks are laid out with a certain free and easy carelessness that is very acceptable and contrasts with the trim, shaven, soulless treatment of modern squares. Altogether a visit to Golden square will interest.

Berkeley square every one knows. Yet it has an extraordinary sympathetic attraction from its grass and fine shading old trees. No one, we may be sure, has noted that these leafy patriarchs seem to range in two rows down the middle, like an avenue. The fact is, it was the demesne of the lawn in front of the old Berkeley House, which stood at the back of Devonshire House. The mansions round are very fine, and the iron work, railings, etc., are all admired and to be admired. There are some queer things to be told about squares, for instance, that there was a General Strode who had a mania for setting up statues in squares at his own expense. We have seen equestrian statues in Leicester square propped up with a broomstick, with portions broken away. —Gentleman's Magazine.

The Republic of Jones.

"There was a government in existence within the limits of my state during the late war that I find no mention of in the histories," said Mr. F. M. Holden of Mississippi. "In the early days of secession the county of Jones, through its leading citizens, withdrew from the Confederacy, declared themselves a free and independent people, organized a government, adopted a constitution modeled after that of the United States, called this new government 'the republic of Jones,' elected a president and a full quota of officials and refused to furnish men or money to the southern cause. On the approach of Confederate troops they would retreat to the swamps and other inaccessible places and remain in hiding till the danger had passed. They kept up this queer attitude of hostility to their own brethren, so far as I am informed, to the close of the war, but the republic of Jones passed out of the memory of men with the event of Appomattox, and the mention of it now in that locality is only a cause for smiles."—Washington Post.

The Sources of Religion.

The sources of religion lie hid from us. All that we know is that now and again in the course of ages some one sets to music the tune which is haunting millions of ears. It is caught up here and there and repeated till the chorus is thundered out by a body of singers able to drown all discords and to force the unmusical mass to listen to them. (Page 332.)

We stand on a pass, blinded by mist and whirling snow. If we stand still, we shall be frozen to death. If we take the wrong road, we shall be dashed to pieces. We do not certainly know whether there is any right one. (Page 339.)—From the "Life of Sir James Fitzjames Stephens."

The Newspaper of the Future.

Mr. Edison has an idea that the newspaper of the future will be published by phonograph. His reason for this is that the eyesight of the people is becoming poorer, time is more precious and that newspapers are so large that it is impossible for people to read them through.

LONELY MOUNDS AT POINT BARROW.

They Mark the Antiquity of a Native Race, but Do Not Tell Its Story.

Point Barrow, Alaska, the northernmost point of land of the North American continent, has some interesting graveyards of its own. About 11 years ago Lieutenant Bay, in his report of the polar expedition to Point Barrow, recorded that in digging a shaft 26 feet below the earth's surface to obtain earth temperatures he found a pair of wooden goggles, pointing to the great lapse of time since these shores were first peopled. The Alaska Mining Record says that this country was undoubtedly inhabited long before Columbus discovered America. Of the origin or descent of the inhabitants no definite trace has been found, and there are no records of the past among the people who now live there. Their language abounds in legends, but none gives any data by which to judge how long these desolate shores have been inhabited.

The ruins of ancient villages and winter huts along the seashore and in the interior show that the country has been inhabited for centuries. There are mounds at Point Barrow marking the site of three huts dating back to the time when the natives had no iron and the men "talked like dog." These mounds stand in the middle of a marsh, and the sinking of the land caused the site to be flooded and abandoned. The inhabitants in times past have followed the receding line of ice which at one time capped the northern part of this continent and have moved along the easiest line of travel. This is shown in the general distribution of a similiar people, speaking a similar tongue, from Greenland to Bering strait. The distribution of the race today marks the routes traveled. The seashore led them along the coasts of Labrador and Greenland, Hudson bay and its tributary waters. They came down the Yukon, so rich in minerals, to people the shores of that stream and the interior of Alaska, and traveled along the coast to Cape Prince of Wales. To this day they use dogs instead of deer, the natives of North America having never domesticated the reindeer, and they speak a different tongue from their neighbors across the strait in Siberia.

Some writers on the subject have advanced the theory that the natives of Alaska are descendants of the race of people that Cortes drove out of Mexico, others that they are Japanese or Chinese in origin, and others still that they came to this country across the strait from Siberia. So far as definite information is concerned, one guess is as good as another. The lonely mounds at Point Barrow mark the antiquity of the race, but they do not tell its story.

EASY ENGLISH FOR SPANIARDS.

No Man Need Want Bread and Butter if He Can Say "Sombrero y Bota."

Some time ago two Chilean gentlemen, friends of each other, agreed to visit Europe. One of them resolved to proceed overland to Buenos Ayres, and from thence to Montevideo, where he would join the straits steamer, while the other preferred to make the journey by sea.

In due time the steamer arrived at Montevideo, and the two friends met again. After the customary salutations were over they commenced to compare notes of their respective trips. The traveler by sea complained that the Chilean stewards on board professed a profound ignorance of their native tongue and persisted in answering all questions put in that language with a "What, sir?" or "Beg pardon, sir!" "Only imagine," he said, "that during all the voyage from Valparaiso to Montevideo I have been unable to obtain pan con mantequilla, because the stewards either would not or could not understand me."

"My dear friend," replied the overland route man, "I will tell you how to overcome that difficulty. There is a considerable number of Spanish words which can be made to do duty as English. It is merely a question of pursing up the mouth and speaking harshly through the teeth. For instance, in the case of pan con mantequilla, the Spanish words to be employed are sombrero y bota. Make the trial and you will be convinced of the efficacy of my method."

Next morning the two friends sat down together to breakfast, and the overland man, nudging his companion, whispered, "Try my method." Immediately afterward one of the Chilean mozos who was unable to comprehend the meaning of pan con mantequilla approached, and the passenger, screwing up his mouth and speaking through his teeth, exclaimed, "Sombrero y bota." "Some bread and butter? Yes, sir," came the answer, and the passenger had no difficulty after that in procuring pan con mantequilla.—Chilean Times.

Friendship.

The plant of friendship grows only in the warm air of congeniality. Confidence binds its parts together and is the cohesive power of its nature, while sympathy is the life giving sap coursing through every fiber. It is an evergreen and is indigenous to all lands. Its most beautiful flowers open during the night, and, while a perennial bloomer, it is most fragrant in winter. Time cannot wither or destroy it; age but strengthens and develops.—C. S. Field.

Advice.

Writer—Can you tell me where I can go to suffer excrutiating agony for a brief season? I'm writing a torture chapter in my novel and want to get it as near to nature as I can.

Critic—Um—um—er—oh, yes, I know just the place. Come up to my house this evening. The young lady next door is going to have an amateur musicale.—Detroit Free Press.

The Common Bean.

The common bean was cultivated by the ancient Egyptians, but their priests regarded it as "unclean." The Old Testament mentions the bean twice, and it is certain that the Hebrews knew of its existence at least 1,000 years B. C.

THE ROMANCE OF THE TELEGRAPH.

Some of the Odd Difficulties of Operating a Line Through Queer Countries.

A good deal of romance hovers around the means by which the world's news is gathered. The speed and accuracy with which telegraph messages are transmitted between the uttermost parts of the earth is marvelous when the conditions under which they are sometimes transmitted are considered.

The Indo-European telegraph line offers a good illustration. It runs from London to Lowestoft on the east coast of England. It then dips under the sea to Emden, on the German coast, whence it passes through Germany to the Russian frontier. From this point the wire passes by way of Warsaw, Rowno, Odessa, the Caucasus, and Tiflis to Persia, and by Tauris to Teheran, the capital of the shah's queer domain. There it joins the Indian government line which runs from the Persian capital to Bushire on the Persian gulf. Thence the wires run through Balnchistan, and complete the route by connecting at Karachi, in northern India. The operation of this immense stretch of line, passing through countries of such varying climates and general characteristics, is obviously one of much difficulty. On the snow swept steppes of Russia the wires are sometimes snapped like thread by the rapid flight of flocks of wild geese. The poles are cut down and made into firewood by the nomad tribes of the Caucasian districts, and the cunning innkeepers of Georgia seek to boom their post horse trade by deliberately creating faults in the wires. In certain parts of the mountainous regions of Asia the maintenance of the solitary line involves no little personal risk and hardship to the staff hands. Communication is often cut off by avalanches in the mountain districts, and the work of repairing after a snowfall of five or six feet is no light matter.

These mountain stations are provisioned with several months' supplies before the winter sets in, as the staff will be in touch with the rest of the world by the wire only until the spring weather opens out the passes. In these supplies are always included a liberal allowance of books and games wherewith to relieve the monotony of the tedious winter exile.—New York Sun.

THE SOUTHERN SUMMER.

It Is Claimed That While Long It Is Not Oppressive.

Wrong impressions are hard to eradicate from the human mind. In the north and west it is a popular delusion that southern summers are extremely hot and oppressive, and that life here during the summer months is almost unbearable. This impression is formed upon no knowledge of the matter, but simply upon the assumption that, as we are nearer the equator, it must necessarily be much warmer than in more northern latitudes. An investigation of the records of the government weather bureau will show that there is no ground for such an assumption.

Our summers are long, but they are not unpleasant. The heat in the north and west is much more oppressive during June, July and August than in the south. Deaths from sunstroke are much more numerous there, and the heat is decidedly more sultry. Our long evenings are delightful, and a sultry night is seldom experienced. Our laborers work in the fields all day long, and suffer less from the warmth than those of the north.

In a nutshell, our summers compare favorably with those of any section of the country, and our long, pleasant, warm season is a decided advantage. Our farmers can commence to work the land long before their northern and western brothers think of beginning, and can continue to utilize it months after they have stopped. In the towns and cities the residents are exempted from heavy expenditures for warm winter clothing, and for the larger portion of the year the only fuel burned is for cooking purposes.

In comparison with the north and west, it is doubtful if our long, pleasant summer is not as far superior to their short, blistering one as our short, mild winters are to their long, frigid ones.—Montgomery (Ala.) Advertiser.

Lawyers Who Make Their Own Wills.

Many celebrated men have neglected to settle their affairs. Ben Jonson, Dryden and Sir Isaac Newton all died intestate, Bacon insolvent, and the epigram on Butler's monument in the abbey sufficiently explains why he and many others like him never made a will:

The poet's fate is here in emblem shown:
He asks for bread and he receives a stone.

"Wills," said Lord Coke, "and the construction of them do more perplex a man than any other, and to make a certain construction of them exceedeth jurisprudentium artem." An old proverb says that every man is either a fool or a physician at 40. Sir H. Halford happening one day to quote the saying to a circle of friends, Canning humorously inquired, "Sir Henry, mayn't he be both?" At any rate experience teaches that lawyers who draw their own wills sometimes make great mistakes. Sir Samuel Romilly's will was improperly worded, Chief Baron Thompson's will became the subject of chancery proceedings, while the will of Bradley, the eminent conveyancer, was actually set aside by Lord Thurlow.—Temple Bar.

His Great Anxiety.

THE PRIZE FIGHT OF THE FUTURE.

As It May Be Served Up by the Reporter a Hundred Years Hence.

"Denver Ed" Smith stepped into the ring and shook hands with Bill Higgins at precisely 9 o'clock.

First Round.—"Denver Ed" led with a bunch of silver statistics delivered rapidly. Higgins countered with a quotation from Adam Smith. Light sparring ensued, neither contestant being injured.

Second Round.—Higgins started in by rushing Ed all over the ring. Ed ducked cleverly and met his opponent with a body blow from Sauerbeck's tables. Honors even.

Third Round.—Smith aimed a powerful silver argument at Higgins' head, but fell short. Bill rushed in and infighting ensued, with a hot exchange of epithets. Bill's friends claimed a foul, but the referee would not allow it. Round slightly in Smith's favor.

Fourth Round.—Smith pursued the same tactics, but Bill gave ground. Bill is hissed. Bill counters on Ed's plea for bimetallism. Both men fighting hard. Ed drops to avoid punishment.

Fifth Round.—Both men slightly winded. Bill starts in with a terrific volley of treasury statistics straight from the shoulder. Ed goes to his knees, but is up in a moment and upper cuts with a report of the crime of 1873. A straight knockdown, the round closing all in Ed's favor.

Sixth Round.—A repetition of the preceding, Ed having the best of it.

Seventh Round.—This was the hottest round of the fight. Bill reached for Ed's position with a statistical report, but Ed was not there. He ducked cleverly and met Bill half way with a statement of the volume of the currency since 1880. Bill staggered a little, but recovered and tried to rush in and clinch. He failed, but succeeded in landing an argument in return. Both men exchanged hot blows, then sprung together and clinched, falling. They were almost carried to their corners, where their seconds were stimulating them with works on the theory of finance.

Eighth Round.—Bill got Ed in a corner, read a chapter of an answer to "Coin's Financial School" to him. Foul claimed, but not allowed. Ed rushed Bill furiously. Both men weak.

Ninth Round to the Seven Hundred and Fifty-sixth.—Uneventful rounds; both men working hard, but too weak to do damage.

Seven Hundred and Fifty-seventh Round.—After a short exchange of faint blows the referee intervened and declared the contest a draw.—Chicago Record.

WHAT IS ELECTRICITY?

Some of the Numerous Theories on the Mysterious Current.

Well, what is it? It is scarcely possible to say. There are theories—many of them. It is evidently something of which we cannot take a part; we cannot cut a piece of it off and subject it to analysis, nor can we pour a little of it into a bottle for future study and contemplation. It is like the wind—its effects can be measured, its force, strength and quantity can now be calculated to a very nice degree. Still, to liken it to the wind, it is a stupendous power, a mighty typhoon, blowing, as it were, without moving, two ways at once along all parts of its path, giving off a halo of magnetism at right angles to that path everywhere.

One of the nicest theories, perhaps, is the one that considers electricity a "condition" of atoms, brought about by chemical action, as in a battery cell, or by what might be called a severe irritation of the magnetic halo, as in a dynamo, and by other means, such as heat and friction.

What this condition is is beyond us; it may be a violent rotation, or it may be an equally violent vibration of atoms! Probably the arc light would prove it to be a vibration. But as no man has seen an atom at any time, not even with the most powerful microscope, it is impossible to say. Friction in some form or other is present, as heat is produced before burning, or destruction, takes place.—Exchange.

How to Judge a Book.

We knew that the Moslems, when they conquered Persia, found in that country an innumerable quantity of books and scientific treatises, and that their general, Saad Ibn Abi Oueccas, asked Caliph Omar by letter if he would allow him to distribute those books among the true believers with the rest of the booty. Omar answered him in these terms: "Throw them into the water. If they contain anything which can guide men to the truth, we have received from God what will guide us much better. If they contain errors, we shall be well rid of them, thank God." In consequence of this order the books were thrown into the water and the fire, and the literature and science of the Persians disappeared.—Notices et Extraits.

Cattail Buttons.

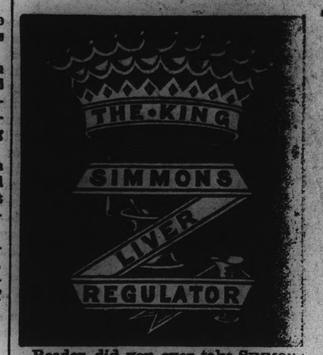

The buttons at the backs of our coats are a survival. Formerly there was a buttonhole in the forward corner of each skirt, and when a gentleman was walking or riding he turned his skirts and buttoned them to the bottom at his back. The buttons on the wrists of our coats are relics of the days when the sleeves were so long that they covered the tips of the fingers, and the cuffs were turned back and buttoned when the hands were employed.

Mohammed.

The chief feature of Mohammed's face was the pair of great, lustrous eyes that shone out from his swarthy countenance. They were intensely black and glittering, and when he was angry they seemed to turn green. Otherwise his face was not prepossessing.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Reader, did you ever take SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR, the "KING OF LIVER MEDICINES?" Everybody needs to take a liver remedy. It is a sluggish or diseased liver that impairs digestion and causes constipation, when the waste that should be carried off remains in the body and poisons the whole system. That dull, heavy feeling is due to a torpid liver. Biliousness, Headache, Malaria and Indigestion are all liver diseases. Keep the liver active by an occasional dose of Simmons Liver Regulator and you'll get rid of these troubles, and give tone to the whole system. For a laxative Simmons Liver Regulator is BETTER THAN PILLS. It does not gripe, nor weaken, but greatly refreshes and strengthens.

Approach of the Cholera.

The State Board of Health at a recent meeting warns the local Boards of Health to take some action toward putting their towns in such sanitary condition as to ward off the fearful plague, which is now raging in the Sandwich Islands, China and Japan and may at any time make its appearance in the unclean cities and towns of the Pacific Coast. The Board in a circular letter under a late date says: "On account of the reports of cholera in China, Japan and the Hawaiian Islands, the State Board deemed it advisable, at a special meeting held at San Francisco, September 3rd, to ask the General Government to declare a quarantine against all infected foreign ports, and enforce the quarantine laws, rules and regulations of the United States against them. Such a request did not contemplate an interference with, or an infringement on the duties of local or municipal health and quarintine officials. The Secretary of the Treasury issues orders to United States Consular officers, and to medical officers serving at foreign ports, making publicly known the rules and regulations made by him, to be used and complied with by vessels in foreign ports for securing the best sanitary condition of such vessels, their cargoes, passengers, and crew, before their departure for any port in the United States, and in the course of the voyage; and all such other rules and regulations as shall be observed in the inspection of the same on the arrival thereof at any quarantine station at the port of destination, and for the disinfection and isolation of the same, and the treatment of cargo and persons on board, so as to prevent the introduction of cholera, yellow fever, or any other contagious diseases. The above is recited merely to show that the authority of the Government is extended far beyond the jurisdiction of a municipal quarantine, which cannot decree nor enforce rules and regulations in foreign ports, nor on board a vessel on its voyage. The enforcement of regulations at the port of departure is regarded as more important, if anything, than the matter of quarantine at the port of destination, for if any contagious disease germs get aboard, there will be no quarantine to undergo when the vessel reaches port. While on this subject, it is interesting to note that the most advanced sanitary authorities in the United States lean in favor of Governmental control of all international quarantine.

"But there will be no clashing of authority in the event of cholera knocking at our doors. There will be harmonious action and a determination to prevent its entrance. It is a good time for local Boards to clean house by the removal of all unsanitary conditions in towns and villages, no matter how remote."

THE amendment to the constitution of California which makes reading in the English language a qualification for voting was supported with great unanimity at the last election. It will take effect in a more pronounced way next year, when a Presidential election is pending. There will be thousands of newly naturalized persons that will reach out for the electoral franchise, and if they cannot read the constitution their names will not be registered as voters. There are numbers who are now voters who cannot read, but these cannot be disfranchised.

Authors and Music.

Milton had a strong taste for music, and wrote his play of "Comus" for his friend Henry Lawes, the most distinguished composer of the day in England. Music and conversation, indeed, were his chief recreations. He sometimes sang, and could play the bass viol, but his favorite instrument was the organ. Gray had a liking for music, and would sing on occasion, though with some diffidence. While in Italy he learned to play on the harpsichord from the younger Scarlatti, and was the means of introducing Pergolesi into England.

Though Rogers kept nightingales to sing to him, his taste in music would hardly be admired at the present day, for he is said, when dining alone, to have had an Italian organ grinder playing in the hall! Goldsmith was skillful with a flute, and could sing a song or dance a minuet with the best. Other and noisier amusements, however, did not come amiss to him, and games of blindman's buff or forfeits were often a sore trial to the occupant of the room below the poet's in Brick court, Temple—the learned Blackstone, then engaged in writing his Commentaries.—Chambers' Journal.

What Did G. P. O. Mean?

"One of the most curious blunders of an author was that made by Thackeray, when collecting material for his 'Irish Sketch Book.' Driving along a road, he saw at due intervals posts set up with the letters 'G. P. O.' upon them. Overtaking a peasant, he inquired the meaning of these initials and was gravely informed that they stood for 'God Preserve O'Connell!' Out came the tourist's notebook, in which a memorandum was at once jotted down of the curious statement. In the first edition of the sketches the fact was duly mentioned, but it was suppressed in all the subsequent issues, owing to the tardy discovery that the initials stood for 'General Post Office,' indicating that the highway was a post road."

It is due to the memory of William Makepeace Thackeray to say that the above happened not to him, but to Lord Haddington when riding into Dublin from Kingstown in 1834. See "Private Correspondence of Daniel O'Connell," by W. J. Fitzpatrick (London, J. Murray), volume 1, page 504.—Notes and Queries.

Breaking It Gently.

Some time ago a troopship was returning from abroad, and among the passengers was an old lady who had a favorite parrot, which she placed under the especial care of one of the sailors. On going to attend Polly one morning the latter was surprised to find the poor bird dead, and knowing how very much upset the old lady would be to hear of the death of her favorite, and not feeling equal to imparting the sad intelligence, he employed a brother tar, who was famous for his gentleness in matters of that nature. Going up to the old lady with a very sad face, and touching his cap, he said:

"I don't think that 'ere parrot of yours will live long, marm."

"Oh, dear!" said the old lady "Why?"

"Why, cos he's dead," was the comforting reply.—Liverpool Mercury.

Wonderful Miniature Book.

The smallest bound book in the great collection of miniature books owned by the New York Library society is a campaign document issued in 1852. It bears not only the distinction of being the smallest volume in the great collection referred to, but has been pronounced by experts in booklore to be one of the tiniest books in existence. It contains but 14 leaves, each of which is closely printed on both sides in microscopic type. Each leaf is 1¼ inches in length and seven-eighths inch in width. The title page bears the following inscription: "Life and public services of General Pierce. Respectfully dedicated to General Lewis Cass. Concord Press. 1852."—St. Louis Republic.

Eyes and Electric Lights.

Physicians declare that electric lights will in time work blindness to many people. What the cool, restful green or soft dusks are to one's eyes the tranquil companionship of a rural few which grows to cultured friendship, unvexed by distrust, is to one's mental health. Again their manifold fetors fill the night, and are more or less absorbed by the lungs, and must conduce to one's deterioration. The urban monster despoils the man, and the woman, of course, as well.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

The World's Fair Tests showed no baking powder so pure or so great in leavening power as the Royal.

The driest place in the world is that part of Egypt between the two lower falls of the Nile. Rain has never been known to fall there, and the inhabitants do not believe travelers when told that water can fall from the sky.

HOOD'S Sarsaparilla is carefully prepared by experienced pharmacists from Sarsaparilla, Dandelion, Mandrake, Dock, Pipsissewa, Juniper Berries, and other well known vegetable remedies. The Combination, Proportion and Process are Peculiar to Hood's Sarsaparilla, giving it strength and curative power Peculiar to Itself, not possessed by other medicines. Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Sores, Boils, Pimples and all other affections caused by impure blood; Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Sick Headache, Indigestion, Debility, Catarrh, Rheumatism, Kidney and Liver Complaints. It is Not What we Say, but what Hood's Sarsaparilla Does, that Tells the Story—Hood's Sarsaparilla CURES

Swept by a Cyclone

Of approbation to the pinnacle of popularity, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters has acquired a commanding position, which has occasionally made it a bright and shining mark for knaves, who seek to foist upon the community spurious compounds in the guise akin to that of the real article. These are mostly local bitters or tonics of great impurity, and, of course, devoid of medicinal efficacy. Beware of them and get the genuine Bitters, a real remedy for malaria, rheumatism, kidney trouble, dyspepsia, nervousness, constipation and biliousness. Physicians of eminence everywhere commend the great invigorant, both for its remedial properties and its purity. A wineglass thrice a day will soon bring vigor and regularity to a disordered and enfeebled system.

OFFERS FOR SALE SOME OF THE FINEST PROPERTIES IN SONOMA VALLEY.

SONOMA INDEX-TRIBUNE.

SONOMA, SEPTEMBER 21, 1895.

CITY OFFICIAL PAPER.

Incorporated in 1985.

Capt. Boyes has issued his prospectus of the Agua Rica Springs. It tells us the company was incorporated in 1985. It is needless to add that the prospectus was not printed at home. The job was taken to San Francisco.

A Relic of the Boom.

A. J. Van Every of this place has commenced suit in the Superior Court against George H. Maxwell to recover $350 and interest given on a promissory note executed by Maxwell during the boom in this valley several years ago.

Fined Ten Dollars for Battery.

Wm. B. Read of Agua Caliente was arrested on complaint of A. W. Peterson a farmer residing near the same place, last Monday, charged with battery. Read appeared before Judge Brown on the following day and pleading guilty to the charge was fined $10. Go thou, oh! Bill, and sin no more.

Close of the Deer Season.

In a test case tried in the Superior Court of Marin county last week Judge Angelotti declared that the close season as to killing deer extended to October 15th. The Supervisors of Marin county passed an ordinance forbidding the killing of deer after September 15th, but the Judge decided that the State law, making the close season October 15th, must prevail.

Fire at El Verano.

A dwelling house on the hill overlooking the depot at El Verano, caught fire Monday afternoon and was burned to the ground. The origin of the fire is unknown, but is supposed to have been the work of an incendiary. The house had just been repaired at a cost of several hundred dollars by the owner, John Lounibos, preparatory to occupying it. The loss will not exceed $1,000.

A Sonoma Horse at the State Fair.

T. Bows[illegible] returned from the State Fair, Sacramento, last Monday morning with his fine stallion, [illegible] won three first prizes. Pollock, a half-brother of the stallion Clyde Boy, who dropped dead three weeks ago, won first prize in his class. He also won the stallion walking match race easily, and beat the best record by the surprising time of three minutes. One of Pollock's colts also won first prize in his class.

Cady's New Bond.

The new bond of M. K. Cady, receiver of Dr. and Mrs. Nordin's Agua Caliente Springs property, was filed and approved by Judge Crawford last Wednesday. The bond is for $12,000 and through the efforts of his attorney W. E. Dean of San Francisco and E. W. Chapman of Oakland were secured to go on the bond.

Cement Sidewalks.

G. DeBernardi, the well-known stone mason, has been engaged the past week in laying a cement sidewalk in front of Grothaus' corner. When completed it will add much to the appearance of that part of Napa street. These walks are a great improvement on the old wooden ones and in the long run are a great deal cheaper. The cement walks laid by Mr. De Bernardi are most substantial and durable, as is evidenced by the walk laid by him in front of the Postoffice several years ago, which is to-day without a flaw or blemish.

Serious Accident.

Otto, the little three-year-old son of Carl Dresel, Sonoma's well-known wine grower, met with a painful accident on Saturday last. The little fellow was playing around the new dwelling, which is being erected by Mr. Dresel, when he fell through an opening in the first floor to the cellar underneath, a distance of eight feet. He was picked up in an almost unconscious condition and taken home. Dr. Davis was sent for and found that he had escaped serious injury, although badly bruised and shaken up. The friends of Mr. and Mrs. Dresel will be pleased to learn that young Otto is now rapidly recovering from his fall.

The meals to be had at the Sonoma House, now kept by Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Stein, are the best to be had in any hotel north of San Francisco.

THE GRAND JURY.

Wednesday, October 9th, at 10:30 P. M., the Grand Jury will assemble at the courthouse and proceed to business.

The Tax Rate.

At a special meeting of the Board of Supervisors held last Monday evening the matter of the tax levy came up for final action.

The $1.53 rate was advocated by Supervisors Hayden, Joost and Gray.

The sub-divisions are as follows: Road 11 cents, indigent 5c, general 27c, bond 10c and school 20½c, brings the rate up to $1.53.

An amendment was offered before the established rate was adopted by Supervisor Thompson in which the road tax was reduced 2 cents and the general tax 1 cent.

There was no second to this motion.

Chairman Hall and Supervisor Thompson both voted against the $1.53 rate.

A special school tax levy was made as follows: Pine Mountain, 24c; Porter Creek, 20c; Merritt, 23c; Alexander, 22c; Healdsburg High School, 27c; Petaluma, 21c; Courthouse, 22c; Courthouse bond, 5c; special levy Courthouse district, 11c; Washington, 11c; Icario, 11c; Cloverdale, 11c; Alden Glen, 11c; Enterprise, 10c; Huichico, 10c; Watmaugh, 10c; Glen Ellen, 10c; Harvey, 10c; Dunbar, 10c; Flowery, 10c; San Louis, 10c, and Sonoma, 10c.

A Fine Chicken Ranch for Sale.

One of the finest chicken ranches in Sonoma county is offered for sale in these columns this week. This ranch, which consists of 27½ acres and is free from mortgage or any other indebtedness, is improved with a house, barn and good fencing. Twenty acres of the land can be irrigated from two never-failing springs, making it possible to combine vegetable raising with chicken farming. This place, which is located between Sonoma and Petaluma, will be sold at a bargain. For particulars see adv.

Large Rattlesnake.

A large rattlesnake was killed four miles north of Sonoma last Sunday by a party of deer hunters. The reptile was ensconsced in the crevice of a large rock, upon which one of the hunters had taken his stand, and gave warning of his presence with his rattles. The snake was speedily dispatched together with twelve young rattlers, measuring from eight to ten inches in length, which were found alongside of the parent snake.

The U. S. Gov't Reports show Royal Baking Powder superior to all others.

Glen Ellen Squibs

Fred. W. Weise of Folsom is visiting friends and relatives in this place.

The public school children will give an entertainment next Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Allen visited San Francisco last Saturday on business and pleasure.

Dr. C. C. O'Donnell has graveled and otherwise improved the avenue running through his place.

Mr. Jones of Cloverdale will preach in the churches of Kenwood and Glen Ellen next Sunday.

James Pieratt killed another deer in the Hooker canyon, one day last week, which tipped the beam at 86 pounds.

J. Chauvet's residence is rapidly nearing completion. When finished it will be the finest in the valley.

J. E. Poppe of Sonoma took a run through Bennett Valley last Wednesday for the purpose of buying grapes.

Rev. W. M. Massie has accepted a position in Hawaii. He will leave about October 1st, and intends to locate permanently at the islands.

Ye editor H. H. Granice took a spin on his bike in this vicinity one day last week. He also took a a beautiful header near Charley Wilson's ranch, to which fact we have ample witnesses.

REMINGTON.

Glen Ellen, Sept. 19, 1895.

Employment for Our Boys and Girls.

R. J. Corbet, whose vineyard is located in the northwestern suburbs of town, with commendable enterprise is employing our boys and girls in picking and packing his crop of Tokay grapes. At the present time he has eleven girls engaged in his packing house. The boys, of whom there are quite a number, are employed in the vineyard picking the grapes. The girls are paid $1.25 per day, and the boys receive correspondingly good wages. We trust the example set by Mr. Corbet will be emulated by other grape and fruit growers in this valley.

Masque Party.

The Club of '95 will give a hard times masque party at Mervyn Hall, Glen Ellen, on Saturday evening, October 5th. The committee having the affair in hand, Messrs. Robt. P. Hill, A. R. Harrison, J. E. McMullin, T. N. Alexander, A. A. Enke and E. R. Allen, will make this party the social event of the season.

Fine Beef Cattle.

Henry Weyl, Sr, our enterprising butcher, has just received a fine consignment of beef cattle. The animals, twenty in number, are now in his corral for inspection. They are the largest and finest we have seen for many a day.

Bicycle Notes.

A race meeting will be held at Healdsburg on September 29th, and some interesting events are being booked for the meeting.

Miss Julie, aged thirteen years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Granice, made the round trip on her bicycle from Sonoma to Sebastopol, a distance of sixty miles, last Saturday. She completed the journey without fatigue.

A Cheap but Brilliant Light.

Julius Fochetti's residence is the only place in Sonoma which is lighted by gas. The gas is generated in a gasoline tank erected in his yard about fifty feet from the house. It gives forth a brilliant light and is almost equal in that respect to coal gas and costs less than coal oil or any other kind of light. Mr. Fochetti informs us that he can set up these gas machines for from $65 up.

Had to Give it Up.

An exchange tells the story of a man in London who determined to spend all he made during the first year in advertising. He soon found that it was impossible, for the simple reason that the more he advertised the more he made, and after strenuous efforts to get rid of his money in advertising, he had to give it up.

Memory is a little treacherous now and then, and causes one to forget some things worth remembering, unless one has an experience like that which came to Mr. D. E. East, Moffatt's Creek, Va., who says "I had been suffering for years with a torpid liver and found no relief until I took Simmons Liver Regulator when I was entirely relieved of my troubles. I never intend being without Simmons Liver Regulator.

Mr. McGill and family of San Francisco have recently taken up their residence in Sonoma.

GOSSIP.

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL---OTHER MATTERS.

[Contributed by Marjorie Dow.]

Items of a personal and social nature are thankfully received at this office and will be edited by Marjorie Dow.

Mrs. Annie Rogers, after spending the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Weyl, has returned to her home, Riverside Ranch near Bakersfield, Kern county.

The Philadelphia Times says that cheese cloth, in its finer qualities, is a good material for summer draperies, especially if edged with ruffles of the same. The ruffles are greatly improved by being twisted in the hands before sewing in, to give a soft effect.

Mrs. Prunty and her daughter, Miss Eva, have returned from Monterey very much benefitted by the sea air.

Miss M. Gingery visited her parents near Fulton last Sunday.

Two wooden tobacco pipes, tied together crosswise with colored ribbon, have their bowls stuffed to do duty as pincushions.

Mr. and Mrs. Howe, accompanied by their daughter Miss Dora, visited Napa last Saturday.

Handsome tea cloths are now made of gold-colored linen. Round the edge runs a border, resembling black lace and worked with black silk.

Miss Lucy King accompanied her father, J. L. King, to the metropolis Saturday.

An unhygienic but fashionable way of making a ribbon belt stay smooth, and one that is taken advantage of by many of the fashionable gotten up women, is to wear a belt of stout canvas or even kid under the dress waist. The ribbon will keep in shape over this when it wrinkles over the best corset.

Chas. Gerber returned Sunday from San Francisco.

Several bunches of Tokay grapes were sent to this office this week from the Purcell vineyard, which averaged in weight 7½ pounds. They were the finest we have seen this season.

Lawyer Robt. Poppe visited the County Seat last Monday on legal business.

Beets loose their fine deep color when the roots are cut off. Put the beets to boil in boiling water, and do not trim them. In cutting off the roots they bleed, as, in common parlances the coloring matter in the beet is called blood.

Mr. and Mrs. John Wagnon and family left last Thursday for Samuel's Springs, Napa county, where they will rusticate for several weeks.

Prettier than any of the china biscuit jars are the new ones of cut glass shaped like a barrel, with hoops and cover of silver.

Mrs. M. Akers was called to San Francisco Tuesday by the illness of her daughter, Mrs. Archibald Cook, who gave birth to a little son (still-born) on the 18th instant.

A life of Queen Victoria is being prepared by a lady in whom the Queen has full confidence, and in whose hands all the materials have been placed.

The Cackling Club is an organization which numbers among its members the charming widows and interesting old maids of Schellville and vicinity. They meet every Wednesday, drink tea and discuss the social topics of the day. It is whispered among a select few that the club is soon to loose one of its buxom widows. We have not as yet learned the name of the lucky man. We congratulate him, however.

A novelty in photograph screens is made of three sheets of glass, bound and connected with straps of ribbon and decorated with bows.

Egg cozies are made in the form of a water lily turned upside down, the stalk forming the handle. The petals of the flower are of white or yellow satin and the leaves of green.

The oldest olive tree in the United States is at the Mission of San Juan Capistrano in San Diego county. The seed of this tree was brought from Barcelona, Spain, 126 years ago. The purpose of the Franciscan friars in planting olive trees in Southern California was to provide food for the priests who came from the olive-growing districts of Europe. This veteran olive tree is fifty feet high, with a trunk five feet in diameter. Since the first planting of olive trees in California the industry has extended so that it to-day embraces 700,000 trees, of which 400,000 were planted in 1893. Six years ago there were only 700 acres of olive groves in California. To-day there are 21,000 acres, 5000 of which are in bearing.

Herman Laux returned from a brief visit to the city last Monday evening

Dr. John A. Nordin passed through town Wednesday on his way to San Francisco.

Miss Pauline Bates leaves for San Francisco this afternoon, where she will make a protracted stay with friends.

To clean oilcloth and linoleum use cold tea, which is better than soap for the purpose. Then polish with linseed oil and a little turpentine. Worn spots paint over, and the life of the covering may be greatly prolonged.

Miss Ida Agnew is home after a trip to Monterey.

For stains in matting from grease, wet the spot with alcohol, then rub on white castile soap. Let this dry in a cake and then wash off with warm salt water.

To clean bamboo furniture, use a brush dipped in salt water.

When a cat is caught in the act of catching young chickens you can cure her effectively by tying one around her neck and making her wear it for two or three days. She will never again have use for or touch a chicken.

Cloaks of crepon have yokes of passementrie and heavy embroidery. They are extremely elaborate, and some of them have half capes that are solid masses of garniture, with very full ruchings of crepon at the throat.

Chas. Hein of Kenwood was in town Sunday. He rode down on his bicycle and before returning home took a spin over to Brown's valley to visit his brother Jos. Hein, formerly of this place.

Among the Germans the badge of a married woman consists of a little cap or hood, of which they are very proud, and "donning the cap" is a feature of the wedding day among the peasants of certain localities. The married women of Little Russia are always seen, even in the hottest weather, with a thick cloth of dark hue twisted about their heads. In every country but our own there is a sign or symbol of some kind that distinguishes the matron from the spinster.

THE LITTLE GIRL AND THE CANDY.

Mrs. Calliper Tells the Colonel About an Interesting Incident.

"Jason," said Mrs. Calliper to her husband as they sat at dinner, "when I was coming back from Cometville the other day, after my visit to Mrs. Gratebar, the train boy went through the cars, as usual, with papers, magazines and candy, and when he was making the trip with the candy he threw a package into the lap of a little girl who was sitting with her mother. How Asbestus Is Mined.

The uses to which asbestus is applied are so varied that the mining of the mineral has become quite an extensive industry. In the majority of mines the stone is blasted out, machine drills being used to bore the blast holes. The crude asbestus in the most modern plants is carried up an inclined railway to a stone crusher, where it is broken with the adhering rock into pieces not much over 1½ inches in size. From the crusher the ore drops on an inclined sieve, which is shaken continually by suitable machinery, the loose fiber and dust going directly to the cleaning and grading machines, while the larger pieces are dropped on a revolving table, where the worthless rock is removed by hand.

The larger pieces are still further crushed and sorted, the object being to procure a clean fiber free from dirt. The chief difficulty in this method of preparing the material lies in the fact that if asbestus is crushed with a considerable amount of stone until the latter is reduced to powder the long and most valuable part is partially destroyed, while if the stone is not entirely reduced before grading it a large amount of waste is the result.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Every precious stone known to the lapidary has been found within the limits of the United States,

HIS LAST POEM.

In the highlands, in the country places,
Where the old, plain men have rosy faces
And the young fair maidens
Quiet eyes;
Where essential silence cheers and blesses,
And forever in the hill recesses
Her more lovely music
Broods and dies.

Oh, to mount again where erst I haunted,
Where the old red hills are bird enchanted,
And the low green meadows
Bright with sward;
And when evening dies, the million tinted,
And the night has come, and planets glinted,
Lo, the valley hollow
Lamp bestarred!

Oh, to dream, oh, to awake and wander
There, and with delight to take and render
Through the trance of silence
Quiet breath;
Lo, for there, among the flowers and grasses,
Only the mightier movement sounds and passes,
Only winds and rivers,
Life and death.

—R. L. Stevenson.

VIEWS OF MARRIAGE.

It Consummates Life—No Single Life Is the Perfect One.

We hear young men say, "I am too poor to get married," and girls, "The man I marry must be rich." These remarks appear harmless, and they may have a certain business shrewdness behind them. Still the larger truth is that the speakers most often do not take an honest view of marriage, no matter how honorable may be their purposes. Money cannot insure happiness, and long experimenting in the countries of Europe has shown that mating for wealth is the sure road to a lax and immoral domestic economy. It would seem that the sensible view to take of marriage is that it consummates life for the poor and the rich, the vulgar and the refined; that no single life is the perfect life. The future of mankind depends almost wholly upon happy marriages and healthy offspring. And this suggests that there should be no marrying of unsound people. Greater selfishness cannot be imagined than that which brings children into the world doomed to a life of immitigable misery, the hereditament of those who bear their parents' burden of disease. Shall we say that questions arise in this connection too delicate for discussion with young persons? Is it better to leave the discussion to be raised after it is too late?

The sensible view of marriage is the view that comprehends every consequence. To the young people looking forward to a long and happy wedded life it is of vital importance that no element of the subject shall be a mystery; that nothing connected with the matrimonial venture shall be left to the hazard of chance. Parents must understand that their children are to be parents; that there is no escape from the responsibility, and that education is incomplete and training inadequate which does not qualify for paternity and maternity. The young man and the young woman who are fitted for marriage are fitted for all that a healthy, courageous and happy life demands or imposes.—Chautauquan.

Mrs. E. E. Davis, of San Miguel, Cal., says; "I am trying in a measure to repay the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for the great good their remedy has done me. For years I was a constant sufferer from weak lungs and bronchial asthma. My rest at night was disturbed by a hacking cough, so that I felt miserable the greater part of the time. Many remedies recommended by friends were tried, none of which proved suitable to my case. I did not experience any beneficial results until I began taking Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. After two bottles of the large size have been used I am pleased to state, my health is better than it has been for years. The soreness has left my lungs and chest and I can breathe easily. It has done me so much good that I want all who are suffering from lung troubles, as I was, to give it a trial." For sale by all dealers.

In the year 1890 iron mining was carried on for commercial purposes in twenty-eight States.

P. P. P. purifies the blood, builds up the weak and debilitated, gives strength to weakened nerves, expels diseases, gives the patient health and happiness where sickness, gloomy feelings and lassitude first prevailed.

For primary, secondary and tertiary syphilis, for blood poisoning, mercurial poison, malaria, dyspepsia, and in all blood and skin diseases, like blotches, pimples, old chronic ulcers, tetter, scald head, boils, erysipelas, eczema—we may say, without fear of contradiction, that P. P. P. is the best blood purifier in the world, and makes positive, speedy and permanent cures in all cases.

Ladies whose systems are poisoned and whose blood is in an impure condition, due to menstrual irregularities, are peculiarly benefited by the wonderful tonic and blood cleansing properties of P. P. P.—Prickly Ash, Poke Root and Potassium.

SPRINGFIELD, MO., Aug. 14th, 1893.—I can speak in the highest terms of your medicine from my own personal knowledge. I was affected with heart disease, pleurisy and rheumatism for 25 years, was treated by the very best physicians and spent hundreds of dollars, tried every known remedy without finding relief. I have only taken one bottle of your P. P. P., and can cheerfully say it has done me more good than anything I have ever taken. I can recommend your medicine to all sufferers of the above diseases.

ABERDEEN, O., July 21, 1891.
MESSRS LIPPMAN BROS., Savannah, Ga.: DEAR SIRS—I bought a bottle of your P. P. P. at Hot Springs, Ark., and it has done me more good than three months' treatment at the Hot Springs. Send three bottles C. O. D.
Respectfully yours,
JAS. M. NEWTON,
Aberdeen, Brown County, O.

Capt. J. D. Johnston.

To all whom it may concern: I hereby testify to the wonderful properties of P. P. P. for eruptions of the skin. I suffered for several years with an unsightly and disagreeable eruption on my face. I tried every known remedy but in vain, until P. P. P. was used, and am now entirely cured.

Skin Cancer Cured.

Testimony from the Mayor of Sequin, Tex.

SEQUIN, TEX., January 14, 1893.
MESSRS. LIPPMAN BROS., Savannah, Ga.: Gentlemen—I have tried your P. P. P. for a disease of the skin, usually known as skin cancer, of thirty years' standing, and found great relief; it purifies the blood and removes all irritation from the seat of the disease and prevents any spreading of the sores. I have taken five or six bottles and feel confident that another course will effect a cure. It has also relieved me from indigestion and stomach troubles. Yours truly,
CAPT. W. M. RUST,
Attorney at Law.
